Great Reduction IN FANCY SILKS.

On Friday, Nov. 5,

We shall mark down our stock of Fancy Silks to prices lower than they have been for the past eight years.

We shall show large lines of Winter Silks at $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 in all styles, including Chenes, Stripes, Changeables, &c., &c., many of them at prices much less than Gold cost.

We have also made a great reduction in the price of our Fine Colored Gros Grains, which, with the Fancies, make the cheapest lot of Silks ever shown in this market, to which we invite the attention of the trade.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 5, 1869.

WHAT THE NORTHWEST NEEDS.

There is no disguising the fact that the agricultural interests of the Northwest, which have been in a straitened condition for three years past, are at present in a very prosperous state. Throughout the country, from the diminished area of corn, wheat, barley, oats, and rye, had the most fair prospect prevailed, the average crops have continued, even, to that date, a very heavy addition to all those great staples of agriculture so fortunately grown in this section. Wheat is still the leading staple, and the one which has for certainty the most influence upon the general prosperity of the country. Ever since the war, it brought before that war to gold, and since gold and labor have come down to their old figures, wheat has risen within a few weeks from 80 to 90 cents per bushel to 40 cents. The farmers of the Northwest have been profiting to this extent, and have been putting in their debts accordingly. Throughout the West and South, the average value of the cotton crop has risen from 10 to 20 cents per pound in gold. Then gains followed, and only three farmers made fair profits on every dollar invested in cotton, but nearly five times what they were in the habit of realizing. The result is, that while the cotton crop of 1869 will be but little more than half that of 1859, the farmers will get nearly as much money for it as they got during the ten years of the slavery. The effect is to increase the general prosperity of the whole country, and especially of the cotton States.

In addition, there are four members of Congress to be chosen by districts. The Legislature, which is composed of fifty-one Republicans and seventy-Democrats, will have to

The Chicago Journal learns from the managers of the Chicago & North Western Railroad that the road from Green Bay to Menominee, which was completed last year, will be put in order at once, and trains will run over it next week. No iron will be laid this fall, but the work of grading is to be pushed along as rapidly as possible.

The Detroit Post says that Mr. Peter Dingley, editor and proprietor of the Lewiston Journal, has been appointed Governor of Maine, to succeed Governor Chamberlain, resigned.

The London Press on the Life and Character of George Peabody.

Critical Condition of Affairs in Spain.

General Rochefort Permitted to Return to Paris.

Great Britain.

OBITUARY.

LONDON, Nov. 4.

The Times says: "The news of George Peabody's death has been received with the deepest regret on both sides of the Atlantic. The sentiments of regret will not be a mere passing tribute of gratitude to a munificent benefactor. Mr. Peabody was one who, when the tenth was cast down to the dust, was revered and honored by sovereigns; he was one who, if not the greatest merchant, was the greatest friend of merchants in the country, was a philanthropist; he was one who, if not a statesman, was a benefactor to the whole human race."

LONDON, Nov. 4—Evening.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Mr. Peabody's wealth was one of the few whose private virtues are followed by public tears, and whose virtues may be cited as examples in laying the foundations of economic and cheerful homes for the working classes. He loved 'not a high tower of duty, but a hearthstone and a home.' He made his name the synonym of unbounded benevolence throughout his whole career. He made his means the measure of his patriotism, and throughout his whole life his conduct displayed a singularity of character that could not fail to excite and endear the feelings his generosity inspired."

The Telegraph says: Mr. Peabody's lot was fortunate indeed. The inscription on his monument may well with unquestionable truth of the man who loved his kind and served two countries."
